

ABSTRACT

An information processing system in which access device (14) transmits a transmission command to server device (13); receives electronic device access information
5 from server device (13); instructs electronic device (11) to transmit operation screen information which is the information to configure a screen for operating electronic device (11) or another electronic device; receives the operation screen information from electronic device (11);
10 and transmits device operation information to electronic device (11).